

1. Fill in the blank: Data is considered _____ when it is accurate, complete, and unbiased information that has been vetted and proven fit for use.
 - a. current
 - b. original
 - c. reliable
 - d. comprehensive

2. Which of the following are usually good data sources? Select all that apply.
 - a. Social media sites
 - b. Academic papers
 - c. Governmental agency data
 - d. Vetted public datasets

3. To determine if a data source is cited, ask which of the following questions? Select all that apply.
 - a. When was this data last refreshed?
 - b. Has this dataset been properly cleaned?
 - c. Is this dataset from a credible organization?
 - d. Who created this dataset?

4. A junior data analyst learns that the dataset they have been given is six years old. After looking into this further, they also discover that the age of the data is making the information irrelevant to their project. What good data source principle have they used to evaluate the dataset?
 - a. Original
 - b. Comprehensive
 - c. Reliable
 - d. Current