

1. Fill in the blank: A relational database contains a series of _____ that can be connected to form relationships.
 - a. cells
 - b. spreadsheets
 - c. tables
 - d. fields
2. What is the term for an identifier that references a database column in which each value is unique?
 - a. Field
 - b. Foreign key
 - c. Relation
 - d. Primary key
3. What process do data professionals use to eliminate data redundancy, increase data integrity, and reduce complexity in a database?
 - a. Manipulation
 - b. Composition
 - c. Iteration
 - d. Normalization
4. Fill in the blank: When using a relational database, data analysts write _____ to request data from the related tables.
 - a. relationships
 - b. programs
 - c. keys
 - d. queries